No Luck at Worlds...

UCI Worlds Championship – Val di Sole - Italie

All was supposed to be OK for Danny Hart and David Vazquez : new Mavic's Dee Max wheels (so beautiful), new Shimano Saint rear mech and brakes, new confidence for David, and even a so skinny skinsuit for Danny Hart (I have some pictures if you want...)

But during the first day, the disaster starts: Danny Hart fall down, and injuries his thumb...Just 72 hours before the final, he can't put his hand on handlebar.

The day after, David fall down and hurt his d..k (you know, between the legs) Diagnostic of his Spanish doctor : he has to stop in case of infection. 48h before the final, no rider from the Team could ride...

Danny Hart will prove that he is now one of the Top riders. He work hard with our osteopath, Magalie (thanks !), alias Mag21.

And when you really want, everything is possible: Danny is back on his bike just before the final.

He rode like an hero, and finish 6th, just 1 second after the 3rd !

Next event in 15 days: the amazing Megavalanche of l'Alpe d'Huez...
